

The Msida Local Council, in the presence of the Hon. Dr. Chris Said, has yesterday officially opened its ICT Learning Centre and a new Local Library. Both are situated within the Civic Centre itself.

Through a partnership with local company TCTC Ltd., the Msida community now can enjoy a brand new ICT learning centre offering free courses for children and adults all year round. Courses range from basic computer skills to ECDL courses, since the Msida ICT Centre has also been officially accredited by this international institution.

The Council also inaugurated its local library, which now hosts over 5000 books. For now, the library will be open every Saturday, all day from 8am till 5pm. Plans are that this library will also be open another day during the week.
